Collegiate athletic voice

NCAA serves nation's schools

Walter Byers
Executive Director

James Frank
President

John L. Toner
Secretary-Treasurer

As the National Collegiate Athletic Association celebrates its 75th year of service, the major governing organization for intercollegiate athletics in the United States continues to grow.

A call for stricter control of college football by President Theodore Roosevelt because of the violence in the game brought together 13 institutions in 1905, formulating the original communications base for college athletics.

This initial body called itself the Intercollegiate Athletic Association and was officially constituted March 31, 1906. In 1910, the name was changed to the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Seven progressive decades have molded this original 13-member body into a membership today of more than 880 colleges, universities, conferences and affiliated organizations.

Administration and rules interpretation occupied early efforts of the organization. Shortly after World War II, the NCAA adopted legislative and executive powers, changing its function into one dealing with virtually all issues concerned with intercollegiate athletics.

Service first

Many things have become associated with the NCAA during its colorful history. Highest priority goes to the service it provides to more than 880 members, acting as the true "voice" of college athletics today.

Each January the NCAA membership comes together at the annual Convention to review, propose and amend legislation. The convention presents the opportunity for the nation's institutions of higher learning to speak and act on athletic matters at the national level.

Acting in the best interests of its membership, the NCAA strives to perform these specific functions among its many other responsibilities:

• Conducts 43 annual National Collegiate Championships in 19 men's sports for three separate divisions. Three championships (Division I, Division II and Division III) are held in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, lacrosse, soccer, swimming, tennis, outdoor track and wrestling. Two championships (Division I and Division II) are staged in gymnastics and ice hockey. Fencing, rifle, skiing, indoor track, volleyball and water polo hold single National Collegiate Championships, while football is contested in Divisions I-AA, II and III. Beginning with the 1981-82 academic year, the NCAA will conduct 29 women's championships in addition to the 43 held for men. Women's championships will be held in all three divisions in basketball, cross country, field hockey, softball, swimming, tennis, track and volleyball. Two championships (Division I and Division II) will be staged in gymnastics, while fencing, golf and lacrosse will hold single National Collegiate Championships. The National Collegiate Championship dates back to 1883 in tennis; and during this 99-year history, more than 12,000 student-athletes have earned the coveted title of "National Collegiate Champion."

• Maintains 14 men's rules committees to formulate, copyright and publish rules of play for the government of collegiate sports. Members of these and many other committees, including 15 women's sports committees, are elected by representatives of member institutions at the annual convention.

• Publishes "official guides" annually for nine sports.

• Collects, compiles and distributes the official statistics of college football, basketball and baseball.

Problem solver

• Conducts studies as a means of developing solutions to athletic programs.

• Represents the membership in legislative and regulatory matters on the state and Federal levels.

• Annually selects the College Athletics Top Ten and the Theodore Roosevelt ("Teddy") Award-the Association's highest honor.

• Administers an honors program which annually awards 80 postgraduate scholarships to recognize outstanding senior student-athletes who have excelled in the classroom as well as athletics. This scholarship is for $2,000. The program has provided $1,490,000 to 1,217 recipients since its inception in the 1964-65 academic year.

• Promotes and participates in international sports planning and competition through membership in the United States Olympic Committee, Amateur Basketball Association of the USA, Track and Field Association of the USA, and the United States Baseball, Gymnastics and Wrestling Federations.

• Maintains more than 80 full-time staff members at its national headquarters in Mission, Kansas, under the supervision of Executive Director Walter Byers.

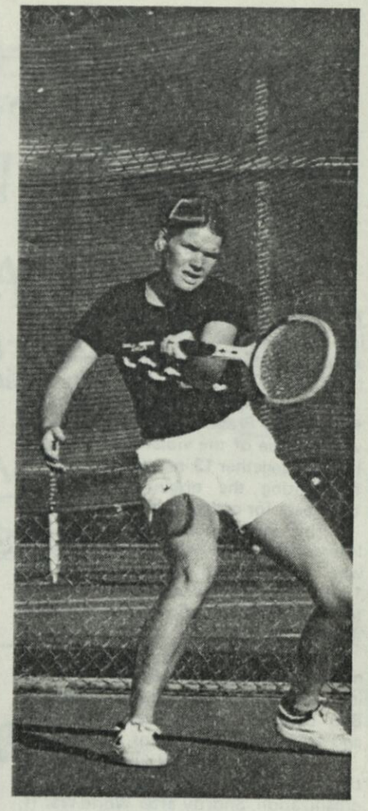
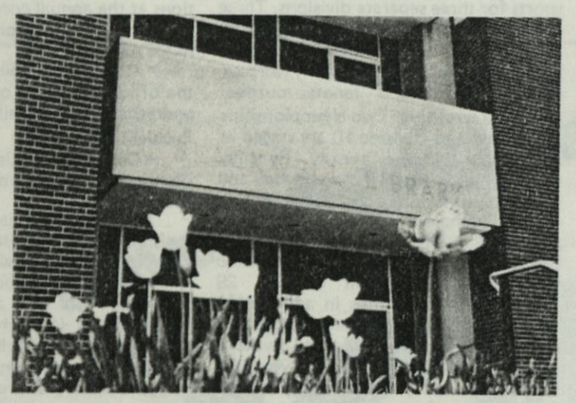
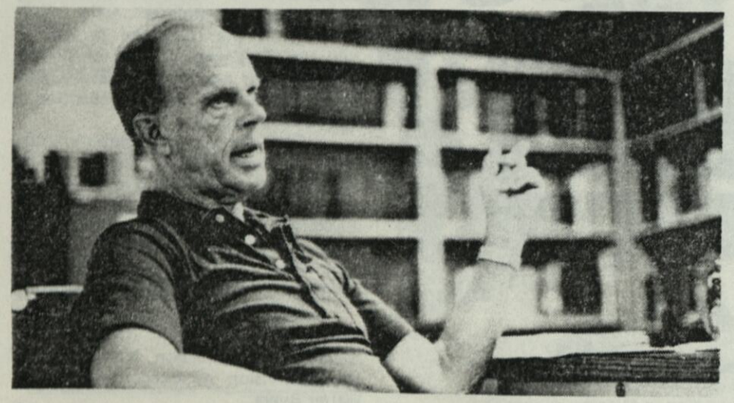
Comprehensive Athletics for Educational Purposes







Salisbury State College was founded in 1925 as a two-year teachers' college and is currently the largest college on the Delaware-Maryland-Virginia peninsula operating as a fully accredited four-year, multi-purpose, liberal arts college offering 24 undergraduate programs with graduate programs leading to the master of education degree and the master of arts degree in English, education, history and psychology.

The college is located at the southern edge of the city of Salisbury with Ocean City, Maryland only 32 miles to the east.

Facilities

Salisbury State College offers some of the finest athletic facilities in the state for its student-athletes.

SSC plays its home baseball games on an Astro-Turf infield with a sodded outfield at the new athletic complex across Route 13 from the Benn Maggs Physical Activities Center.

The baseball field is completely fenced in with large dugouts and installed PA system for the spectators. The baseball field was completed in 1976.

Basketball, swimming, volleyball and wrestling intercollegiate competition takes place in the Benn Maggs Physical Activities Center.

Basketball games are played in the main gym of the center which has three regulation sized courts and a seating capacity of 2,000.

Swimming events are conducted in the six-lane, twenty-five meter pool with three-meter diving boards. A bleacher area accommodates approximately 300 persons.

Although wrestling matches are held in the main gym, there is included in the center, a wrestling-combatives room which is totally padded and is utilized for wrestling practice, self-defense courses and other combative type and conditioning courses.

Also included in the Benn Maggs Physical Activities Center are: dance studio with its own sound system and two mirrored walls; weight machines and Nautilus program; handball-racquetball courts with viewing windows on the second floor; training room which includes sunken whirlpool and two portable whirlpools as well as an extensive array of treatment equipment; locker rooms for men and women as well as for opponent athletes; multi-purpose room which has gymnastics equipment as well as areas for movement education, perceptual-motor training and a batting cage for softball and baseball practice; classrooms designed to accommodate approximately 30 students each as well as an additional room to accommodate 60 persons; bio-mechanics laboratory which houses equipment and instructional materials for physiology of exercise classes, kinesiology and other human kinetic evaluation instruments; office complex and lounge located on the second floor.

The Salisbury State College tennis center offers 12 plexi-pave courts with six of the courts having Devoe lighting.

SSC moved into its newest facility in the 1979-80 school year with completion of a 13 acre athletic complex which includes a multi-purpose varsity athletic field for football, soccer, lacrosse, field hockey and a 400 meter all-weather track.

Also included in the new complex is an intercollegiate softball field, an intramural softball field and a practice field for all sports.

The varsity multi-purpose field has permanent aluminum seats for approximately 3,300 persons on the home side.

The 400 meter all-weather track has six lanes with an additional two lanes for jogging.

With completion of the new athletic complex, Salisbury State College students now have all athletic facilities within a small area of the campus and directly across Route 13 from the Benn Maggs Physical Activities Center.

Admissions

The College invites applications from all who are interested in pursuing programs in 23 majors leading to undergraduate degrees or courses offered for graduate degrees. Qualification for admission is determined without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, or sex. The college welcomes inquiries from all who seek its resources.

Applications for admission, catalogs, and other information about the college may be obtained on request to the director of admissions or from staff representatives at college night programs scheduled by many of the secondary schools and community colleges of Maryland and surrounding areas.

Financial Aid

Financial assistance is available to students through loans, grants, scholarships and on-campus and off-campus employment. This assistance is awarded on the basis of financial need and academic achievement. Students are encouraged to make inquires about financial aid when making application for admission to the college.

Intramurals

The purpose of the Salisbury State College intramural and recreation program is to provide the entire SSC community with an opportunity to participate in a variety of formal and informal activities. These activities range from highly competitive sports to non-competitive games.

Some activities included in the intramural program are: Bowling, flag football, tennis, badminton, table tennis, racquetball, archery, swimming, water polo, weightlifting, softball, indoor soccer, volleyball and wrestling.

Doubles win leads Gustavus Adolphus to victory

John Mattke and Paul Holbach teamed to win the doubles championship and propelled Gustavus Adolphus to victory in the National Collegiate Division III Championships May 14-17 in Claremont, California.

Mattke and Holbach had to go to a fourth set to defeat Paul Metsch and John Rosenberg of California-San Diego, 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2. The doubles victory provided the points needed to boost the Gusties past the host institution. Claremont-Mudd-Scripps, 14-13, for the team championship. Two-time winner Kalamazoo was third with 12 points.

Unseeded Chris Burns of Kalamazoo used a second-round upset of the top-seeded Mattke as a spark en route to the singles title. Burns defeated Mattke 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, before defeating the No. 2-seed, A.J. Shaka of Claremont-Mudd-Scripps, 3-6, 7-6, 7-5, 6-2, in the finals. Shaka captured the singles title in 1977.

The team championship was the first for Gustavus Adolphus, while Burns' singles title was the second for Kalamazoo.
